What Makes Jones Valley Elementary Special?

In the late 1950s and early 1960s, Jones Valley Elementary was established to meet Huntsville's population growth at Redstone Arsenal's growing Space Industry. The school was built across the street from the largest urban working cattle farm in the Southeast and was named after the Jones Family Farm. In 1989 the school was struck by a tornado. A new school was built and opened in 1991. Our PTA and Grandparents' Club along with Community Sponsors invest time and resources to support our students. In 2014, ETA, Entertainment Technology Academy was started at the school with state of the art curriculum. Our students excel in coding, robotics, and creating with cutting edge technology.
